

Eternal Embrace

The Dogma

As the sun kills the night
As the morning sweeps away all the tears
All my hopes fade away
I open up my eyes and here's my nightmare
Just another day waiting for the dark

Let me dream everyday
All my life to the end of my time
As a ghost in a cage
Our eternal embrace

A fruit so sweet to taste, so long awaited
Pure ambrosia lips, heaven from your eyes
The spirits from the past, the envy of the gods
Cursed December days, rainbow turned to grey

And I cried everyday
And I prayed for the end of my time
As a ghost in a cage
Our eternal embrace

Let me dream all my life
To the end of my time
Just at night I shall praise
Our eternal embrace