Everyone Is Wrong

The Donnas

Don't look at me and say my name
And try to tell me it's all the same
Take a song and make it all wrong
Then expect us to get along

Well I know something you don't know
(You don't know)

Well I knew it all along
That a song just ain't a song anymore
Guess I know where I belong
Go tell everybody that
Everyone is wrong

Now you want us to sing for you
Don't you know that's not what we do?
Make it up and pretend your right
So you'll come to the show tonight

Well I know something you don't know
(You don't know)

Well I knew it all along
That a song just ain't a song anymore
Guess I know where I belong
Go tell everybody that
Everyone is wrong

Since when am I your new best friend?
You wanna buy me a drink?
I'd rather have it in ink

If I don't laugh and make you look good
And talk about your morning wood
Ride off, my sweat and years
Cause your busy with your beers

Now I know something you don't know
(You don't know)

Well I knew it all along
That a song just ain't a song anymore
Guess I know where I belong
Go tell everybody that everyone is wrong

So you think that you can ruin me?
That part got through to me
Go tell everybody that everyone
Is wrong
