

She Knows

The Downtown Fiction

She knows, she knows now
She knows, she knows now
She knows, she knows now

Because her face says it all back on the wall

You walk in the door and see your face
You're feeling like somethings outta place
She runs her fingers through her hair
Shes not looking anywhere
And with a glance she knows the truth
Shes discovered the real you
Take off the mask and now shes running, running I guess

She knows, she knows now
What you said
Knows, she knows now
What you did
Knows, she knows now
Because her face says it all back on the wall

Shes not a girl you can replace
Such an adept without her space
You know you did it, oh you know you did it
Now you've gone and lost it all for good
There's something beating that's inside of your head
You've got one more chance or I'm leaving she said
And if she's leaving then she's leaving alone cause she knows

She knows, she knows now
What you said
Knows, she knows now
What you did
Knows, she knows now
Because her face says it all back on the wall

She knows, she knows now
What you've done
Knows, she knows now
Where you go
Knows, she knows now
Because her face says it all back on the wall

This love calls for a potion
But we're lost in emotion
Divide love by a quotient
Forever and ever
Oh, oh all your devotion
So far deep as the ocean
But we're lost in comotion

Because her face says it all back on the wall

She knows, she knows now
What you said
Knows, she knows now
What you did

Knows, she knows now
Because her face says it all back on the wall

She knows, she knows now
What you've done
Where you go
Knows, she knows now
Because her face says it all back on the wall

Your face says it all back on the wall
