

Some More Sin On My Burden

The Duskfall

Been mad for a few days now
I can't help it but it seems to grow
I'll be back some morning
Until the day when it's time to go

All won't be alright
These days nothing will

Put some more sin on my burden
I feel like I could handle some more
My back still aches
But the urge too strong

I'm not that different from you
The skies turn black for us
The skies will never turn light blue
Only for me and you

All won't be alright
These days nothing will
All and everything can go to hell
And get covered in the sand

Drill a hole in my skull
Let the demons out
Punch a hole in my heart
And set the demons free
Want to join them now
Feel that cold wind blow
Open up that bottle let the liquids flow

Been mad for a few days now
I can't help it but it seems to grow
I'll be back some morning

All won't be alright
These days nothing will
All and everything can go to hell
And get covered in the sand

Drill a hole in my skull
Let the demons out
Punch a hole in my heart
And set the demons free
Want to join them now
Feel that cold wind blow
Open up that bottle let the liquids flow

Put some more sin on my burden