Believe

The Echoing Green

There was a time when all I did was cry The fear had gripped my life And all my dreams passed by

But this time I feel you close to me And looking I can see The Christmas in your eyes

And here comes the sun Shining down on everyone And I know today is gonna be okay

And here comes the sun Shining down on everyone And I know tonight it's gonna be all right

And I can see The thunder move so far from me today Nothing's in my way And I can feel Your love this time I know it's real And I realize the Christmas in your eyes

And here comes the sun And I'll believe for everyone That love has come and sorrow has an end

And here comes The One Who gave me strength when I had none My broken heart is beating once again...