

Left Hand

The Envy

Emotion and forced to erase and I put it on a line A head to solve the deprived cipher and an earless cell are both torn off An intangible red arrow penetrates the body

The refusal they make up disregard the minority opinion Responsibilities go up in the air Resistance collapse easily Then discrimination appears an ungraspable light penetrates my eye

A decomposed thumb in my cursed left hand runs away quickly

Glare back the glaring eyes Armed with jarring noise Nothing happens, just a slight transition is on the way Only changes, only deserts Common knowledge simply go paralyzed.
Let loose the spellbinding