

Pray For Rain

The Ergs!

I'm so in love with you
So I thought I'd try something new
And write a silly song about just what your smile can do
But it's just not working out
And now I'm having my doubts
It seems that broken hearted love songs are what I'm all about

So while I'm sore from the smiles that you've given to me
I just can't wait for the day when inevitably
You say I'm not the guy you thought you knew when we have "The Talk"
And you'll regrettably inform me that you're taking a walk

I'm so in love with you
But I just don't know what to do
It seems I lose my inspiration when my hearts not unglued
So now I welcome the pain
Oh yeah I'm praying for rain
To bring some dark black cloudy sadness to this warn sunny day

And I could write you the perfect song
And you could sing along
About how everything's gone wrong