

Single

The Fall of Troy

Just because you went another way
Doesn't mean you aren't my everything
I've been thinking about you everyday
Trust me...

Save yourself there's nothing here to hold you down

In the shadow of the overpass
I can see everything is a mess
If you're happy honey raise your glass
Throw it back, hear it snap, oh how you've
You fractured my heart once again
Fractured my heart once again

Just because you've gone another road
Doesn't mean that you don't have a home
You have a piece of me to call your own
You go home

Save yourself there's nothing left to tell
I'm blacking out your memories, I'm casting out a spell
Save yourself there's nothing left to hold you down

In the shadow of the overpass
I can see everything is a mess
If you're happy honey raise your glass
And throw it back, hear it snap, oh how you've
You fractured my heart once again
Fractured my heart once again

In your own way you have just said everything
In your own way you just ran away from me