Second Generation Woman

The Family

Smokes like a man getting higher than I can She knows how Ahead of her time but she don't give a damn Why should she She looks good to handle from a personal angle Second generation woman Last thing you gotta do is force her into lovin' you No need to Knows then her time is right Comes to you without a fight She wants to She looks good to handle from a personal angle Second generation woman She's a woman that won't let you down Just as long as she's around You don't have to worry She feeds you, loves you, lets you know she digs you She's in a hurry She looks good to handle from a personal angle Second generation woman (REPEAT VERSE 2)