

Content

The Features

Say hello to the children born today.
You and I know they'll soon be on their way
To live a life and see what they may see.
What kind of people do you think that they will be?

Say so long to the ones who've passed away.
You and I know that nature has her ways.
Were they happy and were their hearts content?
I hope they felt like their time here was well spent.

Is this the beginning
Or is this the End?
Are you happy?
Is your heart content?