

Nothing's More Real

The Feelers

I see my heart slowly land in your outstretched hands And I softly land in your outstretched arms I get carried away, by the raging tide
It gets harder to say than hide
All these feelings inside

Nothing's more real than my feelings
in this moment in time
Nothing's more real

I will stay where I stand, loving for the sake of love
No matter where I land, I'll get caught up in your open arms.
So I run from room to room, trying to avoid the void
Try to keep an open mind,
Want to protect you,
love and respect you,
Or leave it all behind

Nothing's more real than my feelings
in this moment in time
Nothing's more real

You bring stars you bring the rain
I don't want to fight and you don't need the pain
And when you're running I'll be your shelter