

What The Hell Happened To You?

The Flatliners

When you, look down on me, I can't see, I can't see it
Because the glare from you angry eyes is killing me,
You protect just one,
So I don't care, so I don't Oh
It's killing me it's killing me
Different worlds can you feel it
To you or does it make a difference
But I knew you before they did...
Different strokes sugar kiss
Well Webster just couldn't deal with yea himself,
I knew you before they did...
We're just trying to play
And find a way for ourselves
To be happy in life
But then you and your friends have made different plans
And now we're run or receiving
End your lies your smiles they deviate, irritate is a
Game this feeling the hate
What the hell happened to you
I'm so confused you should be too you should be too
The words are kind has be to long
Drowning myself in a bottle but nothings...wrong
And I knew you before they did...
Sitting up a sleeping roll in your eyes
You did it, you did it
I knew you before they did...
When you, look down on me, I can't see, I can't see it
Because the glare from you angry eyes is killing me,
You pretentious [protect just] one,
So I don't care, so I don't Oh
It's killing me it's killing me
You, what the hell happened to you oh yeah
You, what the hell happened to you oh yeah
You, what the hell happened to you oh yeah
You, what the hell happened to you OH YEAH!
