

The Way The Waters Are Moving

The Flower Kings

Summer is gone, memories long
We're afraid and hold on desperately
To the last of hopes and memories
Time moves on, how I wonder
Even perfect moments slip away
And may leave us empty and afraid

Now
I can sense there's something wrong
The way the waters are moving
Struck by the impact we all change
Forever
You are all gone
And I'm left here slowly dying
Now this ain't right, I curse and cry
I've asked myself a million times
Why some just have to lose and suffer

Summer is gone, it all went wrong
So we bury all the pain inside
And once more put on a friendly smile
Life moves on, but no more bonds
We're afraid to love and lose once more
So we turn lights low and lock the door

Now
I can sense there's something wrong
The way the waters are moving
Struck by the impact we all change
Forever
You are all gone
And I'm left here slowly dying
This ain't right
Here's one more sleepless night
I'm growing older
There's no way I escape your cries
I've asked myself a million times
Why I have to lose and suffer
