summer's gone, and I am waiting for new beginnings with better endings long nights for the sleep deprived friends fading while falling in love i'll write these letters to you from a desk in my room that's bleeding truth and i won't sleep so i'll have no regrets to waste on you [Chorus] we'll fight the good fight, the good fight waiting up for the phone to ring off the hook i've waited so long to hear goodnight until sunrise let's drink

to our fallen friends, to our failures and our futures wasted on the ride home fight the feeling
we're not alone
i got this feeling
i can't shake tonight
so i'll call you for the hundredth time just asking for a reply [Chorus]

we'll fight the good fight, the good fight waiting up for the phone to ring off the hook I've waited so long to hear goodnight until sunrise, until sunrise...