

Hope. She's in the Water

The Foreshadowing

My hope. She's in the water.
I swear I saw at night when she left me. My hope.
I read her lines, then left me drown as guilty. My hope.
And through the window spied on me. My hope.
My hope...

And she possessed me, she laid down the law.
I worked - she refused me.
I swear, the more I worked, the more I felt she'd leave me. My hope.
I've thrown my mind and future. Makes me worry, I know.
Now please, just let me mesmerize the world...

I don't know what time will be when light will break the silenc e
I just know that sound is near when knives will stab our hearts
I don't know my dynasty and fear will keep the distance
I just know my tragedy but I'm a man of war.
