

Plateau

The Frames

I'm on a plateau
its not where I belong its taken so many years to figure out my way upon this plateau
its all been said and done and every time I try the words make little sense until you're gone

And everything must change everything must change

Ami7+Ami7*

Upon this plateau
the diamond sky's enough to take you miles ahead where the past can't ever catch us and all your good friends are gathering all around they say the time is now and so I must resolve to say

It's just me myself again and I'm just talking to the wall this time it's just me myself and I deciding on a plan deciding on

And everything must change everything must change inside you now everything must change inside and out everything must change, change...

I'm on a plateau ..
I'm on a plateau ..
I'm on a plateau
