

Probably Built in the Fifties

The Gathering

I might be moving to the east to part my ways
And I will try to get something I don't have yet
If I do, I will look at it for days and days until I will never forget

I have heard this mental search has made them all take a look along the border Having the urge
For their minds to be lifted
to something new I'm running to meet my higher self

I trust the speed
until I have no need
to run anymore

Miles and miles I run

I hear my feet
And I hear myself breathe heavily

I trust the speed
until I have no need
To run anymore

Miles and miles I run