Greater Distance

The Ghost Inside

All the wrath and all the faith I have inside is eating me aliv e. Most tend to put their dreams aside to get them through the day • But my eyes are open, and I see the sky. And I am infinite. I continue on. I will never fear the unknown, and I am infinite. I can continu e on. Limitless and unbreakable, the wavering wishes of man are but a whimper. Now stand up high to come and live forever with me. All hope is not lost. Some things seem so far away to a halfhearted and broken youth. Terrified of the outside and everything (in your sight). It's just within your reach. Everything is just within your reach.