

You're No Fool

The Good Life

Is he out with your cousin again?
Don't you know where your cousin's been?
I heard he's running with a prostitute
Oh, your aunt's so upset
And your man is keeping secrets

Your sister's telling you to cut him off
But your sister, she should talk.
She's been married to the same chain gang
Oh, your sisters will never change
And the husbands will play their games

Oh no,
But you're no fool
Oh no,
You're no fool

I saw your lover at the Venice Inn
Having dinner with his ex-girlfriend
I asked your cousin if your man's alright
"He's not so bad
And he's all that she has;
So why fight?"

Oh no,
But you're no fool
Oh, you're no fool

You're no, you know, you're no fool
You're no, you know, you're no fool
You're no, you know, you're no fool