

Hiding Under Covers

The Growlers

Some things you can't turn off
Just like the coming of the dawn
So good that you never wanna stop
But you know that it's kinda wrong

But you can't be hard on the lovers
Can't be too quick to judge
It's hard to choose the right thing to do when you're so in love
Your heart and your mind play dumb like when you were still young

Don't look for reason to blame
You don't need to condone
It's enough when they feel shame
Leave them alone

Hiding under covers doesn't help
Lovers have a very special glow
Their eyes and their hearts explode
Soon enough everybody's gonna know

Well I know it's not a game and I know it's none of my business
But I'm not one to push the blame
But I sure don't wanna be a witness

But you can't be hard on the lovers
Can't be too quick to judge
It's hard to choose the right thing to do when you're so in love
Your heart and your mind play dumb like when you were still young

Don't look for reason to blame
You don't need to condone
It's enough when they feel shame
Leave them alone

But you can't be hard on the lovers
Can't be too quick to judge
It's hard to choose the right thing to do when you're so in love
