Save Us from Those Who Would Save Us

The Hell

I find it hard to see that in this modern age So many people are easily outraged They shouldn't be such narrow minded fools

I think the puritans have more than had their say And I for one am bored with all their rules

I'm sick and tired of people telling me what to do Self-appointed guardians - no better then me or you

Save us from those who would save us

They make the barriers and we must break them down We must ensure they're stopped before They got a proper foothold in your mind Narrow minded fools

They'll conscript your conscience They'll make you bow and cower So watch your step, they're never far behind.
