

Venus In Force

The Hellacopters

I saw her in lightning
She stood in the rain
Soaked and wet she was fighting
Got off her knees once again

She's dragging me down
But I wanna keep her warm
Still is my coat enough shelter
From the storm

I saw her in thunder
Beautiful electric and pale
And I saw her go under
Where souls are always for sale

She's dragging me down
But I wanna keep her warm
Still is my coat enough shelter
From the storm, yeah

She's getting down to get higher
Persistent she walks with bare feet
She walks through brimstone and fire
Think I'll at the crossroad, head for dead end street
