

After The Climax

The High Court

Delivery on the way, she's already two months late.
There's a choice that you'll both have to make, determining all your fate.
There's a price that you'll both have to pay, when you're throwing a future away.
Such a horrible thing to be saying, but it's better than running away.

Look at what you've gotten yourself into.
There's no easy option here.
Which of these two doors are you going to pass through?
You're running out of time, you better make up your mind and decide!

Delivery on the way, she's already two months late.
There's a choice that you'll both have to make, determining all your fate.
There's a price that you'll both have to pay, when you're throwing a future away.
Such a horrible thing to be saying, but it's better than running away.

Intro-tune to an age-old tale of a proposition that one of you should have declined.
Come on, pretty baby, I want you so bad right now, you know it's safe.
Come on, we do it like this all of the time.

Next thing you know, back to the floor.
The taste of your sweat is making her thirsty for more.
Those games that you so love to play will cease to exist oh so soon.
Yeah cause there's a delivery on the way, she's already two months late.
There's a choice that you'll both have to make, determining all your fate.
There's a price that you'll both have to pay, when you're throwing a future away.
Such a horrible thing to be saying, but it's better than running away.