

Midnight

The Higher

Cruel intentions dating back
Sometimes it's better just to wait
Lets cut this tension with knife
Rewind and listen to her say...
I never wanted it to end this way

I'm getting tired of waking up
With the hope that you'll be next to me
Convinced that's all I need
Even though my dream seems far away

There's a memory that still remains a midnight sky
Your eyes as wide
it's paradise and daylight brings a smile
A smile that could chase away the night
Remember back when everything was right
Us staring at the stars up in the sky
Wish this could last forever

Your eyes
You promised me that you wouldn't cry and we would last forever

There's a memory that still remains a midnight sky
Your eyes as wide
it's paradise and daylight brings a smile
A smile that could chase away the night
Remember back when everything was right
Us staring at the stars up in the sky
Wish this could last forever

So where are we now
This piece of papers getting torn
The shadow of a doubt is getting larger
And it's building like a storm
Remember when you promised then
Don't break my heart
Don't say another word.
