

Try Again

The Higher

She started coming down
She's tied up in an airplane descending on our town
And I, I let my vision blur
The lights reminded me of her and the way I let her down mmm
But I'm getting older and I know that nothings changed
I've got to let her go
And the truth is I'm better off alone no sense in dragging someone else along
And I know that she knows
She said

You'll lie wide awake at night
Thinking about the battle between you and
I know its not about who wins
Sometimes its better to give in
You've got to learn to try again

I'm taking to the road
The desert looks so desolate as I'm reaching for the phone
And this static reappears
The signals keeping me from her and what she needs to hear oh
But times passing slowly I'm so lonely without her Shes absent from my world
And the truth is I'm better off alone no sense in
dragging someone else along
And I know that she knows
She said

You'll lie wide awake at night
Thinking about the battle between you and
I know its not about who wins
Sometimes its better to give in
You've got to learn to try again

Come come on
Oh ooo
Come come on
Ohh

You'll lie wide awake at night
Just thinking about the battle between you and
I know its not about who wins
Sometimes its better to give in
I lie wide awake at night
Thinking about the battle between you and
I know its not about who wins
Sometimes its better to give in

(You'll lie wide awake at night)
You've got to learn to try again
Sometimes its better to give in ohh (You'll lie wide awake at night sometimes its better to give in)
You've got to learn to try again
