Fallen

The Hope Conspiracy

I have nothing left inside today I let it wither and die with a cutting crash of broken past and a reckless pace for killing it fast falling down I have sufferd too long beaten till my heart was cold within the frames I watch the decay of everything I love falling away falling down again.