

Hope Bound Heart

The Hope Conspiracy

i'm dying to change your world - a hand to make it pass - i know you wanted gold - all you got was black - didn't we ever smile at the good times? - everything that gave you hope - i shot down with arrows - god always willing to hear when the angels cry - yet your tears tell a million lies - you care for all its worth - a tear for every hurt - slashing holes in the walls of your everything - my years have been spent destroying your hope bound hearts
