The Horrors

What does it tell you when you change into a stranger?
What words can never be denied?
When does it start to turn the shade into a shadow?
How does your life become a lie?

Questions unanswered, you walk into the storm
'Cause there's no point in waiting now
For the promise of a cure
Stuck in an echo, an echo of life
Stuck in an echo of life

There's only so far that the eye can see
And if you think twice would you still believe
This moment in time that will soon repeat
Until you get beyond

Quiet we only try, we cross so many lifetimes
Where is the message that you sent?
And you don't need to leave, you only need a lifeline
It's the beginning of the end

Promises broken, and words make their return
So what are you waiting for
When the cure is now a curse?
Stuck in an echo, an echo of life
Stuck in an echo of life

There's only so far that the eye can see
And if you think twice would you still believe
This moment in time that will soon repeat
Until you get beyond

When you let go, you only get so far
When you let go, you get back to the start
When you let go, you only get so far
When you let go

Get up, get up, get up, get up, get up...

Get up, get up
Get up and you'll see
Get up, get up
Get up

Get up, get up
Get up and you'll see
Get up, get up
Get up

Get up, get up
Get up and you'll see
Get up, get up
Get up

Get up, get up
Get up and you'll see
Get up, get up

Get up
