

With silent feet
My darling dreamer
She steps and skips around the lyre
And though I know
I cannot keep her
I sleep so gladly for a while.

Now winter nears
My darling dreamer
She dissapears into the sea
To have her here
Awake from dreaming
Some things I fear never will be.

I see a whole new way now.
I see a new beginning.
From the sky into the sea
A whole new way of living.

Winter is here
A nervous vigil
I light the lamp for her to see.
She turns to me
And her soft shadow
It stretches out along the beach.

And they go again.

There is a whole new way now
From the sun and from the sea
There is a whole new way now
Such power running through me.

I see a whole new way now
A season in full flower
I see a whole new way now
And i can't live without it.
