

Dreaming about two lives

The Idoru

I may take the steps that i've never dared to take,
I may break those walls i've never planned to break.
I might say words i wouldn't have said,
I may have things i've never ever had.

Sometimes my skin is tight, what happened with my life?
I would like to shed it like the old clothes!

how can i tell you what i feel,
How could you understand the words i need?
Do you know what i think?
I wish i had two lives to live.

i would set a fire that no one could extinguish,
I would let things burn and feel the heat.
I would like to see that sight,
When all the undone actions are realized.