

No Remorse

The Illumination

You live your life in hate cause you're so jaded
Now you're drowning in this sunken city we created
You're a fucking liar, everyone knows it
You forced us out because we exposed it

I put my faith in those who put their faith in me
After living my life so carelessly

Sometimes I wish I could be a better man
But I can't and I'm not sorry
Why should I apologize
When you're the one who lied to my face?

I can do this on my own
I never needed you
I need a place to call my home
There's nothing I can do

My mind can't take the hits
I feel like I'm going to break
Save me from insanity
Make me new again
My mind can't take the hits

Sometimes I wish I could be a better man
But I can't and I'm not sorry
Why should I apologize
When you're the one who lied to my face?

And I never, I never knew
All the hell you've put me through
This is me doing all the things you couldn't do
One day you're gonna pay
For all the shit you've put me through

You brought this on yourself
You only make things worse
Now I can watch you die
With no remorse

Sometimes I wish I could be a better man
But I can't and I'm not sorry
Why should I apologize
When you're the one who lied to my face?

And I never, I never knew
All the hell you've put me through
This is me doing all the things you couldn't do
You live your life in hate cause you're so jaded
Now you're drowning in this sunken city we created