

Separations

The Illumination

I've been shattered
By the eyes that betrayed me
I've been deceived and misguided
By the ones who said they would save me

Where do you go from the bottom
When all you know is nothing
Do I give in do I let go
Do I stand for something

We all live with the weight of a tombstone
Heavy on our backs
harder to run from

I always thought I'd be someone
Who'd find there way back home
I always thought I'd be the one to save you from yourself

You're falling fast
But when when I reached out
You turned away
and left me on my own

You thought you knew me all to well
But nothing will change my mind
I've set my path and I'm leaving you behind

I've been shattered
By the eyes that betrayed me
I've been deceived and misguided

We all live with the weight of a tombstone
Heavy on our backs
harder to run from

I always thought I'd be someone
Who'd find there way back home
I always thought I'd be the one to save you from yourself

You're falling fast
But when when I reached out
You turned away
and left me on my own

Fuck all the doubters
Who wouldn't believe
Fuck all the blind
Who refused to see
Suck it

You're falling fast
I tried to pick you up off the ground
But when I reached out you left me on my own
