

Dream You Back

The Infamous Stringdusters

Her train pulled into the station.
She came over sat down.
She said, "Dear, glad to see you."
Then I heard that lonesome whistle sound.

She wrapped her little arms around me.
I saw that man standing there.
She's gone and found herself a new love.
Just then my heart began to tear.

Well tonight when I lay down
This lonesome soul for to sleep.
I'm gonna dream you back
Into my arms again.

She stood with a smile on her face.
Then turned and slowly walked away.
There's one way she'll never leave me.
In my dreams, she's always gonna stay.