

If the world is an empire, I must be a rebel
I'm sick and tired of giving in to the devil
Thoughts running through my head, travel at the speed of light
The devil tries to drown me, like a person in carbonite
It's time to take a stand, it's time to do what's right
Not giving in to the itch coming from the Dark Side
In my heart I've been forgiven, paid on my death
It's time to put a try to put a bounty on Bobba Fett
Ready for a battle, reminiscent of the Death Star
Satan is running but he won't get very far
See God's power, faster than the speed of light
You live by the sword, die by saber light.
Better since he's ever won we're getting ready to attack
Forces of the dark side, scared of looking back
Victory cry, long live the king
Observation that Jesus brings
Jesus Christ is my Jedi master
Coming at you like a laser blaster
Is it me? How could this be?
Won't stop until I'm free
