The Jelly Jam

fell asleep on a sleepless night steady breathing filled with colored light uneasy question, neither wrong or right it often works that way black and white lost in the color gray
the many reasons fill me up with many more questions
questions
the winter comes, spring is next summer comes, why do we seem perplexed we want so much for something else to be next
it often works that way
black and white found in the color gray
