

Wings Are Wide

The John Butler Trio

The wings are wide, so cover me, come cover me beyond the great divide...
Too long I've waited, my colour has now faded
I've come to be at your side

Beyond my brain, so rescue me, please rescue me of flesh and flawed design
I want to go, so let me flow, like melting snow
My shell it now resigns

(Hey how ya doing my love
finally came up above)
Oh I've missed your touch
(All of the children have grown,
they got kids of their own)
Oh you missed so much (Oh but I always stayed true,
yes I waited for you)
But I've been alone
Without you I've no home

Peace at last Through stormin' seas and broken masts
I lay my final anchor Relinquish pain and anger
Face to face
I long to be in the same place
Our love letters I've burned, to you I must return

(Hey how ya doing my love
Oh I've missed your touch
(All of the children have grown,
they got kids of their own)
Oh you missed so much
(Oh but I always stayed true,
yes I waited for you)
But I've been alone
Without you I've no home
