

Now Those Days Are Gone

The King's Singers

Thinking...

Long ago when we were young and free
Love happened easily
And dreams never died,
Life sang a pretty song

Now those days are gone.

Crying...

Finding comfort in the friends we knew,
Now it's just me and you
Trying alone;
We used to get along

Now those days are gone.

Playing with words

When there's nothing much to say,
Searching to find what we lost along the way.
Could it be one day our feelings changed?
I hope we see it through
Cos I just can't stand the thought
of life without you.

Dreaming...

Whispers echo on the summer wind
Back when the love begins,
When nights were so warm
With stars we could wish upon...

Now those days are gone.

We had the chance

But we lost it all somehow,
Broken the spell
And our dreams lie heavy now
Could it be someday our feelings changed?
I hope we see it through
'cos I just can't stand the thought
of life without you.

'cos I just can't stand the thought of life without you.

Thinking...

Long ago when we were young and free
Love happened suddenly,
And we couldn't see
Where we were going wrong

Now those days are gone.
