Golden Dawn

The Legendary Pink Dots

I'll be your slave, maybe you'll be my priestess. I'd live in a cave and we'd meet where all eyes are turned away. Where we can lay, whe re we can play... and forget the storm. Will you weep while I slip away.. . at Golden Dawn? You drew a star, and I drew a circle. We hid in the car, we cro ssed our fingers and hurtled down the street. The fog was creeping slow, the deathbird peeping through the window. We drove on and found our way to Golden Dawn. I read the news and you heard the sirens. We packed, then we fl ew to an island which noone else could find. Where we could hide and watch the tide slide in at twilight. We made love... on and on 'til Golden Daw n.
