

You take my pain away in my darkest place
When I fear all the most alone
You take my fear away when I see your face
Close my eyes and feel at home
I feel myself rise, slowly unwind
I lift up my eyes into the light

You take my shame away, everything I did
All because you loved me so
What would I fear when you are here?
What would I be afraid of?

I feel like I'm coming alive because of you
Yes, I feel like I'm coming alive because of you

For everything I did, everything I said
You were there, you had a plan
And when I hated you, turn my back on you
You were there with out stretched hands
You waited for me to finally see
And now that I see, I know you're here

You take my pain away, every single day
So I'll never be alone
What would I fear when you are here?
What would I be afraid of?

I feel like I'm coming alive because of you
Yes, I feel like I'm coming alive because of you
So why won't you take me away?

I feel like I'm coming alive because of you
Yes, I feel like I'm coming alive because of you
So why won't you take me away?
So why won't you take me away?