The Letter Black

Pain

Open your eyes And you will see Pain all around Mostly the same What can you do Turn back the time Change what has been Just push rewind

There's something you can't do To take away all the pain There's something you can't do To take away all the pain

Leave them fighting Or reach out instead They might just find Some peace in their eyes You might just be Their only friend You have the [?] To put them on end

There's something you can't do To take away all the pain There's something you can't do To take away all the pain

There's something you can't do To take away all the pain There's something you can't do To take away all the pain