

Pour

The Levellers

Pour some metal on your heart my dear The puzzle is nearing its end Pour some metal on your heart my love The destruction of t he world is at an end

I've seen all of the hiding places Those written in style I've seen all of the shameless faces Wearing a smile So believe me w hen I tell you They've been lying to you Pour some blue into your eyes my dear Obscure the edges of your sight Go on pour that blue into your eyes my love When you're facing the cavalcade of the night

There's always one in a million faces With a destiny smile Drag ging us down to nameless places For the sake of your style So b elieve me when I tell you They've been lying to you

So pour some metal on my heart And pour some blue into your eye s

I've seen all of the hiding places Where destiny smiles And I'v e seen all those shallow faces Looking scared for a while So be lieve me when I tell you They've been lying to you