

Putting You Down

The Living End

So you left the home you never had
On your own how could things get so bad?
And you hitched a ride to the unknown
Forgot your address and your mobile phone

Would they all remember me?
And forget about their needs?

There's nobody putting you down
Just spending your life hangin' around
There's nobody putting you down
But you're draggin' your life on the ground

And you said some things you didn't mean
A lot of what you thought
Wasn't half that it seemed
So you hitched a ride to the unknown
Forgot your address and your mobile phone

As you get older
The chip on your shoulder
Spreading like a disease

Spendin' your life
Hangin' around
There's nobody putting you down
