

Are you okay? Are you all right?
Another bad dream kept you up all night
You've ground your teeth down to the gums
Your eyes are bloodshot from staring at the sun

You say you're okay, you're keeping the pace
But the damage done is written all over your face

Given the chance I'd rather rot in hell
Than see you fade selling the lies they tell
We'll burn the house down and break the spell this time
It's time

So what do you say? We'll go tonight
We'll take a load of bad drugs and stay up all night
We'll ride away sleep where we fall
We'll slit our own throats, bathe in the waterfall

'Cause I can see it all over your face
You've been numb for days and days
Your back is breaking under the load
Your head is pounding like it's ready to explode

Given the chance I'd rather rot in hell
Than see you fade selling the lies they tell
We'll burn the house down and break the spell this time
It's time