Either You Don't Love Me or I Don't Love You

The Magnetic Fields

Lost roads and towns of which nobody's found a name
All the children drowned and there's no one around to blame
Lost roads and towns left to wilder in seed and snow
As the sun goes down, that's where I'd like to go

Every time you feel wonderful, baby, I feel bad Either you don't love me or I don't love you, oh yeah When you remind me of all the good times, I feel sad Either you don't love me or I don't love you, oh yeah

You and me in the waiting room of a disused railroad station Scavenging for a few antiques, we'll make a fortune, just have patience

If we find an old signal box you can write your dissertation

Every time you feel wonderful, baby, I feel bad Either you don't love me or I don't love you, oh yeah When you remind me of all the good times, I feel sad Either you don't love me or I don't love you, oh yeah
