

No One Will Ever Love You

The Magnetic Fields

If you don't mind why don't you mind
Where is your sense of indignation
You are too kind

Much too kind
Where is the madness that you promised me
Where is the dream for which I paid dearly

When things go wrong I sing along
It is the nature of the business
But you're not here to make my sad songs more sincere

No one will ever love you honestly
No one will ever love you for your honesty
No one will ever love you honestly
No one will ever love you for your honesty