

Lonely

The Maine

I remember feeling weightless
In the deeper end
And drowning
In the fear again

And the lovely little loneliness
Would hold me down
Under the sound of being found

But then it all turned around
But then it all turned around
But then it all turned around
But then it all turned around