

Past Mistakes

The Methadones

I'm trying to move ahead without thinking of what I left behind
.

But it doesn't do me any good.

There's peices of the past that come up and make it hard on me now.

What's done is done, I must move on.

Things are much different now-those days are gone.

We're spending too much time-with what went wrong.

I've been in debt from past mistakes for far too long.

I've learned from my mistakes the best I Can, the best that I k now how.

There's really nothing mroe I can do.

There's so many things that bring us down bad memory lane.

That always get the best of me and you.