Wake Up

The Methadones

There Is a very peculiar way you see the world You scan it through a pair of colored lenses You package it neatly in your head Choose to see it the way you want to

Which doesnOt reflect the way they really are
Its just a one dimensional view
As the truth unfolds the look of disbelief is in your eyes
It didnOt turn out the way you thought it would

It takes a long time to really know anyone don t make your mind about what you think you see You might always have some biases

Look at the facts to replace the skewed beliefs

Which doesnOt reflect the way they really are
Its just a one dimensional view
As the truth unfolds the look of disbelief is in your eyes
It didnOt turn out the way you thought it would don□t sell yourself a false bill of goods

Be more practical before you make your assessment
You□re walking into a downward spiral
I wish you luck in trying to get out
