

Bang Bang

The Mission

It's never enough to apologise I always want more than you can give It's never enough to admit you're wrong I always want more rope to hang you with
It's never enough to work your fingers to the bone
A new man's work is never done
And it's never enough to grovel and crawl
Use your apologies as bullets for my gun

Bang bang, and you're dead
Hold my gun right to your head
Bang bang, and you're dead
No matter what we say we know it's got to end this way
(No matter what we do we know it's either me or you)
(I want you to know it hurts to see you go)
Bang bang

It's never enough to shoulder the blame
I want to crush you with the weight of disappointment
It's never enough to admit defeat
Rub salt into your wounds as my anointment
