

Until There's Another Sunrise

The Mission

Buried deep, buried deep inside The hurting and the pain I've got to hide It's cold and it's dark and it's raining outside Never another sunset until there's another Another sunrising up Like a mountain from the sea Against the pain The walls I build, the bridges I burn So I'll never get hurt again It's cold and it's dark and I'm feeling numb Never another sunrise until there's another Another healing time come

Hiding away in my ivory tower, my fortress, my sanctuary Until the healing comes, quiet and sure, like a mistress visiting me It's cold and it's lonely but there's a light shining in my eyes
There's another sunset until there's another Until there's another sunrise